social media account takeover monitoring

We use artificial intelligence to detect suspicious changes to your connected social account's name, username, profile image, or background image —changes that may indicate your account has been hijacked. We also search for impersonating accounts or posts that are using the same name or handle, as well as potentially malicious links posted on your feed. If we find anything, we alert you, so you can take action.

To activate, click on “Social Monitoring” in the portal. To add your Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, Instagram, and/or YouTube accounts, click “Connect” next to the type of account you want to monitor, then log into your social media account to link it to monitoring.
